FAQ:

Qualifications required for registering to this course?

There are no requirements.

How long is each daily session, and what is the total number of training hours for the course?

This training course spans five days, with daily sessions ranging between 4 to 5 hours, including breaks and interactive activities, bringing the total duration to 20 - 25 training hours.

Something to think about:

In an era of rapid technological disruption and global uncertainty, how can a leader balance long-term strategic vision with the need for short-term agile decision-making without sacrificing one for the other?

What unique qualities does this course offer compared to other courses?

This course distinguishes itself by moving beyond theoretical frameworks to focus on the cognitive and behavioral aspects of executive leadership. While many programs teach strategic models, we delve into the psychology of decision-making, equipping leaders to recognize and overcome the inherent biases that can derail even the best-laid plans. Our curriculum uniquely integrates classic strategic principles, such as those from Michael Porter, with contemporary insights into emotional intelligence, change leadership, and innovation culture. The emphasis is on practical application through sophisticated business simulations and peer-to-peer consulting, allowing participants to stress-test their skills in a realistic, high-stakes environment. Unlike courses that offer a one-size-fits-all approach, this program guides each participant in crafting a personalized leadership philosophy and a concrete action plan. The ultimate goal is not just to impart knowledge, but to foster a profound and lasting transformation in how leaders think, decide, and inspire action within their organizations, ensuring they are prepared for the challenges of today and tomorrow
